

eg System i implementation services

When it comes to implementation of new computer systems such as IBM System i, eg has unparalleled resources to ensure that you are up and running quickly and with minimal problems:

High Availability Computing. We deliver high-availability systems, from “never down” 27 × 7 × 365 solutions to minimal downtime backup and recovery solutions.

Network Security. We partner with Cisco Systems to help customers build and expand their networks to meet business needs. And with our Cisco-certified staff, we have the resources to do much more than provide efficient, scalable networks.

Radio Frequency Identification (RFID). RFID applications, when coupled with process change, can streamline supply chain management, expedite manufacturing processes, and automate asset management. We partner with IBM, Intermec, and IDSI to provide comprehensive solutions that address our customers’ business objectives.

Logical Partitioning. Dynamic logical partitioning (LPAR) lets users virtualize hardware resources for sharing by multiple independent operating environments. We use LPAR to consolidate multiple workload environments, time zones, and footprints, saving our customers money by minimizing administrative costs, hardware costs, software licensing costs, and facilities costs.

Collaboration and Email Solutions. When companies use technology to facilitate collaboration and to improve worker productivity, they can cut costs, boost profitability, and eliminate business risk. We sell and support Lotus Domino/Lotus Notes (messaging and collaboration); WebSphere (systems and application integration); Workplace (communication, collaboration, and application development); Microsoft Exchange (messaging and collaboration).

We recognize the need to maximize the value of technology investments. That’s why we offer multiple leasing and financing solutions for hardware, software, and services, with flexible payment structures that match payments to cash flow. We provide comprehensive services for the entire lifecycle of System i systems. From system migration planning, release planning, and upgrades to resource management and performance analysis, we are here to assist you for the life of your System i investment. We have built a team of professionals who maintain the highest levels of training and certification in all areas of technical support. We provide the necessary hardware solutions to meet your company’s needs. We specialize in the following hardware platforms: System i (iSeries); System x (xSeries); System p (pSeries); BladeCenter; SAN; nSeries.

“eg” and “the effectiveness group” are trademarks of the effectiveness group, llc. All other company and product names appearing on this page are the property of their respective owners. Sales and implementation of the products and services described on this page are offered by eg through its strategic partner, KwG, Inc.

